

National Research University Fund (NRUF)

Melitta Berger, Senior Director, State Funding Policy

1

National Research University Fund

Eligibility: Emerging Research Universities (ERUs) with more than $45 million in restricted research & meet statutory criteria

- ERUs: Texas Tech University, University of Houston, UT-Dallas, UT-Arlington, UT-San Antonio, UT-El Paso, University of North Texas and Texas State University

Statutory Criteria: Must meet 4 of the 6 for two consecutive years

1. Endowment >$400 million;
2. Award 200+ PhDs annually
3. Entering freshmen class of high academic achievement
4. Institutional recognition of research capability and scholarly attainment
5. High-quality faculty
6. High-quality graduate programs

Funding: Eligible institutions receive an equal distribution of available funding.

2

2023 NRUF Eligibility Report

This review will determine the distribution of FY 2023 NRUF funding

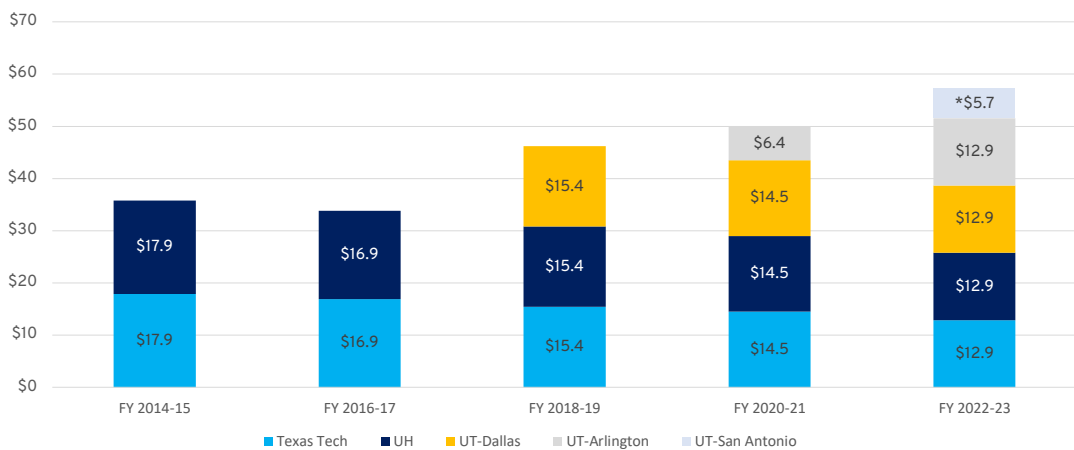

- UT-San Antonio has been found eligible, pending an SAO audit

Institutions previously determined eligible:

- FY 2012 - Texas Tech and University of Houston
- FY 2018 - UT-Dallas
- FY 2021 - UT-Arlington

NRUF Distributions 2014-2023

*As more ERUs become eligible, there is a decreasing share available for each one. UT Arlington began receiving distributions in FY 2021. FY 2023 is estimated and assumes UTSA entry, pending the SAO audit.

Questions?