Background

Fifty public community college districts receive state appropriations based on their student enrollment data. These institutions are governed by locally elected boards that have the authority to levy property taxes in their districts. The state appropriations the colleges receive are used to fund administrative and instructional (education and general) services for post-secondary academic and vocational/technical education.

State financing of higher education programs for public community colleges are provided from the State's General Revenue Fund. The THECB and the Comptroller of Public Accounts distributes these appropriations to colleges based on allocations and performance measures. Each college submits enrollment reports (CBM Reports) to the THECB to document the number of contact hours taught by the college in each semester. The formula for state funding involves multiplying the base period contact hours submitted by colleges by the applicable funding rates.
