College Vocabulary

Vocabulario Universitario

- Adjunct Professor: A professor who is part-time and/or not on campus
- Academic Advisor: You will be assigned an Academic Advisor when you begin college. This person is similar to your high school counselor. Their purpose is to assist and advise you in your college career. They can help you choose a major and a minor. They also ensure that they meet all the requirements to graduate with a major in your chosen field. Academic Advisors are knowledgeable in all areas of academic life they are a great resource if you have questions.
- Academic Probation: A warning that your academic performance does not meet your college/university's requirements to be in "good academic standing". This usually means that your GPA has fallen below a C average. You will have a specific timeframe, generally one semester, to raise your academic performance or you can be dismissed/expelled.
- Alumna/us: Someone who has graduated from that college/university. Plural: alumni
- Associate's Degree: A two-year postsecondary degree. Generally, translates into the first two years of a Bachelor's degree
 - AA: Associate of Arts
 - AAS: Associate of Applied Science
 - AS: Associate of Science
 - ABA: Associate of Business Administration
 - ABS: Associate of Business Science
 - AASCET: Associate of Applied Science in Computer Engineering Technology
- Audit: Attend an academic course without receiving credit. You may choose to attend a class without receiving a grade for that class or it appearing on your transcript. This is typically done when you find a class interesting but do not want to risk scoring poorly and it lowering your GPA and it is not required for your major.
- Board of Trustees: Governing body of the college
- Bachelor's Degree: A four-year postsecondary degree. Generally, this is around 120 credit hours or
